FIRST ANNOUNCEMENT

We are pleased to announce the 12th Cosmic Ray International Seminar (CRIS 2020) which will be held in Salerno – Amalfi Coast (Italy), 8th - 12th June 2020. The meeting will focus fundamental topics in astroparticle physics with specific emphasis on the new-born multi-messenger astronomy studies.

This conference series started in Catania in 1996 focused on Relativistic Ion Studies and moved in the field of Cosmic Ray Physics since 2004.

CRIS 2020, following the experience of previous editions, aims to present overviews of existing data and reports from the present and future experiments. Talks will cover both theoretical/phenomenological and experimental/observational aspects, in order to give an exhaustive overview of this complex field. The discussion about the present status and future plans requires to involve theorists and experimentalists working on various messengers. Thus, the progress in astroparticle physics achieved through space and ground-based detectors is expected to play a major role in the scientific program of CRIS 2020.

The program will include invited lectures, contributed talks and posters, as well.

As in the past, the CRIS 2020 Conference is addressed to scientists in the field as well as to PhD and graduate students. We will encourage lively and informal discussions among participants.

We plan to host all participants in the conference hotel.

CRIS 2020 is jointly organized by the Napoli and Catania Divisions of the National Institute of Nuclear Physics (INFN), by the Department of Physics “E. Pancini” of the University of Napoli Federico II and by the Department of Physics and Astronomy “E. Majorana” of the University of Catania.
