In this talk I will present the analyses on the first science run data of the LIGO and GEO detectors, resulting in an upper limit on the gravitational wave strength of a continuous wave signal from PSR J1939+2134.

I will also briefly present what on-going analyses are taking place on the data from the second science run.